RESEARCH/PUBLICATIONS

Successfully conducted research work for the Master of Laws (LL.M.) degree on the theme: "Self-determination of the people of Zimbabwe in the light of international law".

Presented doctoral thesis on the topic "Certain international legal problems relating to exercise of economic self-determination by African States", and was awarded the Doctor of Philosophy Degree in International Law. Published articles in students journals and newspapers, while a student in Moscow. Presently pursuing the publication of my thesis in book form.

The manuscript examines salient legal problems relating to exercise of economic sovereignty of peoples and nations; looks into the question of economic sovereignty and utilization of natural resources; prescribes the legal framework for international co-operation; examines the legal and institutional aspects of utilization of international river basins; and looks into the question of self-determination and territorial controversies. The settlement of international disputes is also examined.

WORKING EXPERIENCE

In 1974, I joined the Inner London Magistrates' Courts at Clerkenwell Magistrates' Court as an Assistant to the Clerk of Court, a post I held prior to taking up a post-graduate Research Fellowship at the University of Edinburgh.

From April 1981 to August 1982 I was employed in the Prime Minister's Department as an Assistant Secretary to Cabinet. Thus I became exposed to the entire Government Administration and Policy.

On 1 September 1982 I was promoted to the post of Senior Law Officer (Under-Secretary level) in the Legal Advice Department - International Law Section, Ministry of Justice, Legal and Parliamentary Affairs.

On 13 September 1985 I was further promoted to the post of Chief Law Officer, Legal Advice Department - International Law Section, Ministry of Justice, Legal and Parliamentary Affairs (Attorney-General's Office).

DUTIES/RESPONSIBILITIES

My duties/responsibilities as Chief Law Officer/Adviser include heading the International Law Section of the Ministry as well as rendering legal advice to Government and its other bodies on all matters of international law. Where need arises, one is also called upon to give legal advice on national or domestic law. Other responsibilities relate to drafting, negotiation and monitoring of the application of international legal instruments of both bilateral and multilateral character. The interpretation of international law in general, and in particular, interpretation of treaties, forms my major function as an international lawyer in Government. I have been involved in the negotiation and now in monitoring the application of the Treaty for the Establishment of the Preferential Trade Area for Eastern and Southern African States (P.T.A.). Certain legal instruments of Southern African Development Co-ordination Conference (SADCC) have been drafted and their application is being monitored.

I am Chairman of the Public Agreements Advisory Committee (PAAC), which is responsible for advising Government on treaty matters.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCES

I have represented Zimbabwe, either as head of delegation or as legal adviser accompanying delegations, at numerous international; interregional; regional; subregional conferences and meetings.

Inter alia, I participated at the following:

1. Conference of African Ministers of Trade Preparatory to United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD VI), 24 to 26 February 1983, Libreville, Gabon (Legal Adviser);

2. Ministerial Meeting of the Group of 77, 28 March to 9 April 1983, Buenos Aires, Argentina (Legal Adviser);

3. Asian-African Legal Consultative Committee (AALCC), twenty-third session, 16 to 20 May 1983, Tokyo, Japan (Head of Delegation);

4. Commission on Human Rights, fortieth session, 6 February to 16 March 1984, Geneva, Switzerland (Head of Delegation);

5. Symposium on Parliamentary and National Issues, 3 to 8 November 1985, Harare, Zimbabwe (Legal Adviser);

6. Commonwealth Law Ministers Meeting, 26 July to 1 August 1986, Harare, Zimbabwe (Chief Liaison Officer - TASK FORCE); and

7. Law of the Sea, Senior Management Training Programme on Marine Resources Management, with special emphasis on Sea-bed Mining, 9 March to 3 April 1987, Kingston, Jamaica (co-ordinated TASK FORCE, report and presented report to delegates attending Preparatory Commission Meeting, 3 April 1987).

TRAVELLING EXPERIENCE

Widely travelled across the continents of Africa, America, Asia and Europe, on Government business involving the legal advisory duties mentioned herein.

MEMBERSHIP TO PROFESSIONAL BODIES

From 1975-1980 I have been a member of the International Law Association - British Branch.
